About Us

Funding of the sewing programme by the Turkish Cooperation and Coordination Agency (TİKA) to empower women through vocational training.

INAGURATION OF THE KING'S HOPE SEWING PROGRAMME

Ten female trainees successfully completed their first sewing training program at Kings Hope. This was made possible by the funding received from TİKA, a Turkish Agency dedicated to development cooperation activities that support projects in health, education and restoration to name a few.

This support came in at the right time given the high rate of unemployment, limited access to services, poverty and high crime levels in the area of Olievenhoutbosch. The women who are beneficia beneficiaries, spend nine month learning new skills that will change their lives and increase their livelihoods for the better. The opening ceremony held in October was also used to hand over certificates following the long training period.

The formerly unused space at the King's Hope now stands as a newly renovated centre for learning new skills. Women from the shelter can now learn new skiills and live the centre with opportunities to have their own means of survival.

The women who participated in the training programme supported by TİKA, expressed their gratitude for this life-changing opportunity, noting that the skills they gained boosted their self-confidence and made them feel empowered.
